Lunatic Asylum.

Mr. R. Gopalaswami Iyer, Bangalore City Municipality.

Summary of discussion.

The present building of the Lunatic Asylum being unsuited for the patients, a new building on modern lines may be built, and the name may also be changed into "Mental Diseases Hospital."

MR. GOPALASWAMI IYER.- The present building is unsuited to modern conditions and should be shifted to a new building. The site on which the present building stands can be sold at the same rate as was charged for the site on which the Mysore Bank is built.

All classes of patients are placed together i one and the same ward. A patient with a minor complaint who requires a short time to get cured might require a much longer time for relief from the disease if he is associated with patients suffering from the same disease in a more chronic and acute form. There are no special observation ward for new comers, with the result that a new comer who may have to be discharged after a few days' observation might get worse by being associated with patients already ~~associated~~ admitted.

Several persons do not like the idea of sending patients suffering from mental diseases to the Asylum on account of the name that it now bears. The name may therefore be changed to Mental ~~Disease~~ Diseases Hospital. This would tend to increase admissions into the institution.

It is requested that the name of the institution may be changed as suggested first and a new building provided.

DEWAN.- Let us first have a new building and then we may think of the name. The question of a new building involves heavy expenditure. The matter is under consideration.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE PROPOSED NEW MENTAL HOSPITAL.

1. Hospital-Asylum.

A modern institution for the insane is run on the lines of a hospital. The old idea of an asylum as a place of incarceration and safe custody has now been abandoned. The dominant idea at -- the present day in regard to insanity is that of care and treatment.

2. Mental Hospital.

A Mental Hospital has certain special features which distinguish it from other hospitals. The success in the treatment of ---- insanity depends very greatly on "individuality" in our mode of ---- dealing with the patients and structural arrangements should therefore be such as to facilitate "grouping of cases."

"Asylum life" by which is meant life-long residence in the institution will be necessary for a certain proportion of cases, but with improved methods of treatment and by resort to early treatment this proportion will very small.

A mental hospital is therefore intended primarily for ----- persons who come there for treatment for a temporary period and who go out of it to hold their place again in society.

3. Supervision and safety.

Owing to disorder of conduct incidental to certain types of mental diseases special structural devices are necessary to ensure supervision over patients and their safety.

4. Selection of site.

The new hospital should be within easy reach of the City, so that the patients coming there may not feel that they are kept out of the bounds of civilisation and cut off from human society.

The old idea of keeping the Asylum as far as possible from any centre of human activity is not tenable.

An easily accessible hospital will moreover be convenient, for visitors to the patients, for menial servants to attend to their work and for supply of water and electric power.

The site selected, besides fulfilling the usual hygenic ---- conditions should be extensive enough to provide land for farming and for subsequent additions to the buildings.

5. Accommodation and General arrangements.

In order to facilitate "grouping" which as stated above is an important item in treatment, the whole hospital may be planned on the "Villa" system or separate self-contained "blocks" of buildings for different types of patients with an additional block for administrative work. Each block will have only one entrance which will be --- closed and opened by the Nurse in charge. There should be no communication between one block and another.

In England there are separate institutions for the insane, the Epileptics, the criminal lunatics and the mental defectives. But here all these have to be provided for in one institution and the arrangement is therefore is complicated. The undermentioned accommodation is provided for 200 patients which is the daily average --- population of our Asylum. It may as well be borne in mind that with better accommodation the admissions to the hospital are likely to --- increase.

(a) Administrative Block.

i. Superintendents Office, ii. Committee room, iii. Dispensary iv. Laboratory, v. Operation room, vi. Linen room, vii. Recreation room.

i. Superintendent's Office.

This block may be two storeyed with Superintendent's Office on the top floor so that, when he is in office he may be able to have a full view of the institution to see that everything is going on well.

ii. Committee Room.

For meetings of the visiting Committee. It will be also used by friends and visitors of patients as a visitors' room and by the ---- medical officers for the reception and examination of new cases.

iv. Laboratory.

No modern hospital is worth its name without a proper laboratory for research work and the clinical material of a mental hospital --- could be utilised for pathological and bacteriological work.

iii. Dispensary, Operation Room, Linen Room.

The need for these is evident.

Vii. Recreation Hall.

This is a sine-qua-non in a mental hospital and will be used as a reading room, for indoor games, for musical entertainments for --- magic lantern and cinema shows, for lecturers and every other variety of healthy amusement that will be arranged from time to time. It will be a centre of attraction for the patients and something that will - make life worth living for them.

(b) Observation Block. Males 30 Females 20

To accommodate all new cases and acute cases requiring constant care and supervision. This will be the most important part of the institution where insanity in its acute form and abberration conduct in all degrees will be treated. This block will contain a large -- ward for harmless patients smaller rooms for grouping two. three or four patients and single rooms and padded rooms.

Padded rooms are not popular in some hospitals but a couple of such rooms are sometimes useful to prevent self injury by manical or suicidal patients or by feeble patients by falls. There cannot be any objection to a padded room if it is properly padded, lighted and ventilated. Moreover it checks disturbance by noisy patients. --- There should also be a dining room, sufficient number of bath rooms, lavatories and Nurses' room. Except for padded rooms, the furniture and fittings in this block are in no way different from those of a large ward in a general hospital.

(c) Convalescent block. Males 25 . Females 15

Patients who have passed the acute stage and who are conscious of their environments and have to readjust their disturbed mental faculties have to be removed from the monotony and rigid discipline of the observation block and placed in convenient block and there allowed more freedom amidst more cheerful surroundings.

This block will be as homely as possible and less hospital-like and self contained as regards dining, sleeping, bathing and lavatory arrangements

(d) Epileptics Block. Males 10. Females 10.

Epileptics have to be treated as a class apart on account of the special physical and mental character of their maledy. The arrangement differs in no way from that of a convalscant ward with the exception of some special devices to prevent ---- injury by falls during a fit. Some single rooms are necessary here to put in the patients who get excited just before or after a fit.

(e) Chronic Block. Males 25 Females 15.

This is the Asylum proper to house and feed incurable elements and the term "Asylum" if it is to be retained at all may be ----- restricted to this special part of the institution. There are a good number of chronic patients, men and women, in our institution, because the whereabouts of any relatives or friends who would ---- remove them and take care of them cannot be traced. A certain proportion of our patients as has been stated before, are bound to come into this category and deserve all the support and sympathy from us. Most of them are industrious and work on the Farm in the kitchen and in the Weaving shed.

(f) Criminal Block. Males 20 Females 10

Criminals have to be kept apart for legal reasons and accommodation here will be similar to that provided for Epileptics.

(g) Europeans. Males 15 Females 15.

A common sleeping room, dining room bathrooms and lavatories and some single rooms for troublesome patients and for those who wish to be kept separate from the others.

(h) Wards for paying patients. Males 5 Females.5

There has always been demand for these wards from well-to-do patients and a cottage in each section (male and female) is ---- necessary. It will be made available for Indians and Europeans without distinction.

(j) Infectious diseases shed.
(k) Infirmary.
(l) Postmortem room.
(m) Kitchens Hindu
- Brahmin
- European
(n) Laundry
(o) Workshop.

The necessity for these is evident.

Weaving shed xxxxxxxxx. To be added on to later for other industries

Mental defectives.

No provision is made for mental defectives. This may be ---- thought of later on if there is a demand.

(p) Quarters for the Medical and Nursing staff.

This does not call for special remarks and will be on the scale of the Victoria Hospital.

Nurses.

Mental Nursing is a speciality and requires a special course of training. Male Nurses (attendants) and female nurses will have to be trained in suitable numbers after the new hospital is ---- is actually built.

The present staff of menial servants is much too large but has to be maintained on account of the irregular nature of the buildings and facilities that exist for escape and injury. A reduction in the number of menials may be expected with a properly arranged institution.

SIR,

With reference to this office No.B.9486 dated the 8th Mar 1924, re the proposal to construct a building for the Lunatic -- Asylum at Mysore, I have the honor to inform you that during my stay at Mysore and in connection of the Inaugural Address of the New Representative and Legislative Meetings, I had occasion to have a conversation with the Executive Engineer, Mysore Special Division, on this subject. On account of financial stringency, think there is no likelihood of the work being taken up in the near future. Further, if the detailed estimates and plans are prepared now and the work actually taken up some years later, the sanctioned estimate will have to be revised according to the rates prevailant at the time the work is actually to be taken up. So the preparation of the project now, will not serve any useful purpose.

2. If funds to the extent of Rs.30,000/- a year can be arranged to be made available for the next three years, steps will be taken for the preparation of detailed plans and estimates.

I have the honour to be,

Your most obedient servant,
